

Kelly Surf Clam, Surf clams (Spisulia solidia),

These are wild surf clams harvested within Galway Bay
Surf Clams, or Diamond Clams as they are sometimes called, are characterised by a white, smooth, triangular shaped shell. They are a small clam species growing no larger than 4cm across

Kelly Surf Clams (Spisulia solidia) Available: (All Year- Weather permitting) Not suitable for export
Hand Packed in net bags or baskets
Order Enquires:	Email: kellyoysters@eircom.net TeL: +353 (0)91 796120

Taste the Difference:

These wild clams have a delicate texture and unique fresh - sweet taste which is soft and chewy. Surf Clams can be eaten on their own lightly steamed and they are also very popular in many pasta dishes.

Michael Kelly (Shellfish) Ltd.
45539110 "Aisling", Tyrone, Kilcolgan, Co. Galway. IRELAND

EU Approval No. IE GY 0068 EC

VAT Registration No.

Phone No.: +353-91-796120
Fax No.: +353-91-796720

Email: kellyoysters@eircom.net
Web: www.kellyoysters.com